NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Claud L. Waller's Slayer Gets Off with Two Years.

Brother of the Victim Indignant Declares Leo Roeder is Guilty of Deliberate Murder and Thinks the Sentence is Too Lightly.

Leo Roeder, who fatally shot Claude L. Waller in a Chicago real estate office last September, has just been sentenced to a two-year term in the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet for manslaughter. The murdered man was well known in Council Bluffs, having been engaged in the insurance business here up to a couple of years ago, and the circumstances of the shooting are well known to readers of the Bee.

Waller made an auto-mortem statement to the effect that Roeder pulled the revolver out of a drawer, and exclaiming, "I'll fix you," sent a ball through his body. It took effect in the bowels, inflicting a wound from the effects of which he soon afterward died.

This ante-mortem statement was ruled out of the evidence by Judge Tutbill, on the ground that at the time it was made the deceased did not think he was dying.

Roeder's defense was that the shooting was accidental, and he was corroborated by the evidence of a girl and a boy who were employed in the office in which it took place. B. N. Waller, the brother of the deceased, who lives in this city, considers the judgment a travesty upon justice, and expresses his opinion in no unambiguous terms.

Judge Adler as a Barrister.

The members of the German society of the Treubund of this city had some experience with "Judge" Adler, the German septuagenarian who, with his young wife, is now in the United States on a tour of inspection.

Articles of incorporation drawn so as to divide the Iowa lodges from the general order, and Judge Adler, being a German, was given the job of writing the work, but just before the articles were filed the discovery was made that Judge Adler had made a mistake in fact. If it had not been found out, would have resulted in the new order incorporating under the old name of the United Order of the Treubund, instead of the Independent Order, as was desired. This little mistake, together with the word "several" which occurred several times in the document, caused the honest Germans composing the organization to break out into a cold sweat and to pull their articles back out of the recorder's hands. They had already paid Adler $45 for his work, and will have to pay some one else to undo his blunders.

Caught a Piano.

Constable Albert made a flying trip to the Milwaukee freight depot yesterday to serve a writ of attachment which John Bevoe had obtained for the goods of A. Elliott, formerly yard master at the Rock Island depot. The petition was filed in Justice Cook's court and alleged that Bevoe had obtained the piano on a pretense at Bevoe's store by Elliott and his wife, and that they had absconded without paying for it. The amount purchased was $40. When Albert returned to the store he found the piano and two boxes of household goods all boxed up ready to be taken out on the next train. He seized all the goods and the piano, and the case depends upon the result of the litigation thus commenced.

He was bound in the grand jury, and in default of a bail bond of $100 was sent to the county jail, where he is likely to remain until next September.

Today will be spent in a house to house canvass for pupils, and another meeting will be held in the evening. Thursday afternoon a similar meeting will be held. At all these meetings the best methods of teaching the bible will be discussed, and Prof. Sefton will give the benefit of his years of experience to those who come. Entertained the Pastor.

The members of the Baptist church extended a welcome to their new pastor, Rev. V. C. Rocho, and his wife last evening. The church was filled with an audience that had gathered to make his acquaintance.

The early part of the evening was occupied with a program of musical selections that called forth much applause, nearly every performer being compelled to respond to an encore. At the close of the program Mrs. F. A. Sackett, in the name of the members of the church, presented Mr. Rocho and wife a handsome piano lamp. Refreshments were then served, and during the social hour that followed the guests were introduced to the new pastor.

HELD HOME WORK IN IOWA.

Miss Nellie Harrington, Murdered in California, Formerly Lived at Clinton.

CLINTON, Ia., June 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Investigation by ex-Senator Buck and Miss Harrington, principals in the latest San Francisco murder sensation, were both from Iowa. They lived in Clinton prior to 1878. Buck was prominent in business and a member of the council.

The Harrington woman is remembered as connected with several robberies, among them several carried out in California.

FRANCISCO, June 4.—After seventy-two hours' work on the murder of Nellie Harrington, which is reported in our own fact at about noon on Saturday, the police detectives admit that they are completely baffled as to the identity of the murderer.

The detectives are positive only on one point, that the person with whom Miss Harrington had an engagement between 10 and 12 last Saturday, committed the crime. It is believed that the blows inflicted leads to the conviction that the murderer is a man.

The police have taken in a number of letters, the contents of which are said to be sensational by some of the detectives.

Ex-Senator Buck, who is the most intimate friend, died this morning from injuries sustained in a fall from a cart, in which he was being driven by a policeman to the office of the chief of police for consultation.

He threw some light on the tragedy. With his death the detectives are at a loss to secure a clew or to suggest a motive for the murder. The story that Miss Harrington was only partially clad when found is denied by the police. The inquest will be held Saturday next.

WANTS THE ALLOWANCE CUT.

Cochran is Not Satisfied with the Order of the Court.

Rev. Warren Cochran and one of his former wives, Mrs. Letitia Cochran, propose to have another fight in district court over the question of alimony. Several years ago the courts granted a divorce and the supreme court affirmed the judgment below. Rev. Mr. Cochran, however, is dissatisfied with the amount of alimony which he is expected to pay. It figures up to $2,000 a year for three consecutive years. He claims that even if that he was having a man of property, able to support a wife in this style, that his worldly affairs have so altered, he having grown weak of eyesight and lost his property, that the equity branch of the court would be justified in cutting down his former divorce.

TURKEY MAY MAKE TROUBLE

Obstinacy of the Porte Causes Much Surprise in Diplomatic Circles.

WAR SHIPS MAY BE CALLED INTO ACTION

European Powers Who Insist Upon Reforms in the Administration of Armenian Affairs Are Politically Embarrassed by the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—The reply of the Turkish government to the notes of the representatives of Great Britain, France and Russia in regard to the proposed reforms in Armenia, has not been satisfactory. The Porte's answer is not satisfactory. The Turkish government does not agree to the principle of the control of the proposed reforms by the powers. After receiving the reply the envoys of the three powers held a meeting, at which they decided to refer the whole matter to their respective governments.

The position is serious, as last week the British embassy informed the Porte that Great Britain had resolved not to accept any modifications of the propositions affecting reforms in Armenia, and the representatives of the other powers have made the same declaration to the Porte.

The reply of the Turkish government causes surprise, and it is thought that such an answer would not have been given without encouragement from some European power. But the presence of the British Mediterranean squadron, consisting of seventeen ships, at Beyrout, points to an agreement between the great powers and the Porte to force Turkey to comply with the demands of the powers. Consequently, interesting news may shortly be flashed from Beyrout, Syria, where it is believed the British fleet will be called upon to support the demands of the three powers.

The measures which Great Britain, France and Russia insist upon as preliminary to reform includes the appointment of a high commissioner for Armenia, general amnesty for and release of all political prisoners, the revision of certain articles of the constitution and the appointment of a commission to sit at Constantinople charged with the application of the reforms and working in concert with the British and French consuls in Armenia.

It is also demanded by the powers that the governors and vice governors of Van, Erzeroum, Sivas, Bitlis, Khartal and Trebizond be Christian. This demand is made as the population of those places is inclined. In any case, however, either the governor or vice governor of the places named is to be a Christian and the appointment of those officials is to be approved by the powers.

Taxes are to be collected by local and not by state officials, and enough is to be retained for the maintenance of the local administration to provide for the cost of local administration, as under the present system all tax money is first sent to Constantinople, from which but little returns to Armenia.

The powers also propose to compel the Porte to make radical changes in the judicial system, to insure fair trials, the surveillance of prisons, the abolition of torture, and the prison is to be composed of Turks and Christians equally. The Turkish government has refused to accept these proposals, and the Austrian ambassador urged to acquiesce to the demands of the powers. But it was added at the time that the government is entirely unprepared to support the Emperor William of Germany, to whom he is known to have sent an answer to the effect that he would not support the Emperor William of Germany, to whom he is known to have sent an answer to the effect that he would not support the Emperor William of Germany.
